DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 5-6, 12, 16-17, 19-20, 23, 25, 27 and 30-31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

With respect to claims 5-6, 12, 16-17, 19-20, 25, 27 and 30-31, these claims are found to be vague and indefinite as the improperly recite method terminology which fail to properly further limit the apparatus claims from which they depend. Clarification is required.

With respect to claim 23, "an operatory" is found to be vague and indefinite because it is unclear as to what would constitute an "operatory". Clarification is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-16, 18-28 and 30-31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Burris et al., U.S. patent No. 5,207,993.

Burris et al., '993 teach a water purification device for point-of-use application wherein there is a liquid source, a corona discharge ozone generator, hydrophobic means for preventing access to the ozone generator by the liquid, means for mixing the ozone and liquid, means for circulating the ozonated liquid, means for separating excess ozone gas from the ozonated liquid and destroying that excess ozone prior to atmospheric release, and means for maintaining the liquid source. Burris et al., '993 provide a positive pressure pump for mixing and circulating the ozonated water, while teaching the equivalence of static diffusers and venture means, as well. Burris et al., '993 teach the use of the device for provision within offices or compact location such as under sinks. See column 2, lines 40-68, column 3, lines 5-35 and 55-68, column 4, line 23 through column 5, line 35, and the figures.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 17 and 29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Burris et al., '993 as applied to claims 1-16, 18-28 and 30-31 above, and further in view of Viebahn et al., U.S. patent No. 5,158,454.

Viebahn et al., teach a substantially similar ozone treating device as that instantly claimed and as that set forth in Burris et al., with point of use application of the ozonated water throughout the dental lines and components (cuspidor and handpiece and supply lines) in a dental office. See column 1, lines 5-15, column 3, lines 35-68 and column 4, lines 1-55.

It would have been well within the purview of one of ordinary skill in the art to employ the device of Burris et al., '993 with the water-cooperative dental components in a dental office because it would maintain the means to protect the ozone generator, lacking in Viebahn et al., while providing optimal ozonated water delivery for treatment and use.
